

EPE '95 in Sevilla, one more year to go!

By the time this journal reaches your desk, you will most probably already be waiting for news about your synopsis. Do not worry, reviewers are doing their (tough) job and after the International Steering Committee Meeting, in January, you will know if you have to work even harder to prepare your final contribution. But this is not my point here. I would like to introduce the exhibition that will be organised during the Conference days.

With its Spanish location, the EPE Conference is expecting to host about 1000 visitors, all specialists in the fields related to power electronics and drives. They come from all over the world, mainly from 'Western' Europe, but also, in growing numbers from 'Eastern' Europe. United States and Japan are traditionally well represented and some specialists from Brazil, Australia or Southern Africa find the Conference worth the trip. Chinese experts are also attending the Conference in greater number every year.

All aspects of the Field are present, from the design up to the final industrial application, from single component, active or passive, up to fully automatic systems. Discussions are passionate and fruitful.

The exhibition will be the extension of the Conference allowing companies to show that the practical results of their research have reached commercial maturity. The dialogue sessions of the EPE Conference are now world renowned, they serve as examples for numerous other conferences. The exhibition is an attractive and efficient step further to enhance the commercial contacts between the different partners in the Field during the Conference.

Special attention is paid by the local organising committee to insure the success of this particularly well targeted exhibition.
